PASTOR’S MESSAGE:

A RESURRECTION PEOPLE

As a resurrection people, we are called to make the possibilities of the resurrection a reality. Yes, easier said than done. But we do have the power of the one who makes all things new, the alpha and the omega, the beginning and the end. Encrypted language? Yes, from the book of revelation. Revelation contains some of the most cryptic language and most fanciful imagery in the entire bible. It has been used to try to forecast the events of the end times, as well as to call hopeless Christians to fortitude and endurance.

Revelation is fitting in the season of easter. From it, we are drawn to a contemporary application. An application that is quite useful as a guide to experiencing the resurrected life. Its author, the apostle john, allows us to see the world, the church, and the Christian life in the way god envisions it. Not for how it is, but for how it can be.

Revelation calls us to hope and endurance for today. During the month of May, let us look into revelation and see that through worship, eternity is both embodied and enacted. That revelation offers an ideal picture of the church that we can work to become today. That, through revelation, resurrection is not just an event in the past, but an ongoing work of god. Revelation reveals that heaven is not just a hope for tomorrow; it is a promise to be claimed now.

FRIENDS & FAMILY DAY: We are looking to revive Friends & Family Day possibly on Sunday, June 5. Details to follow.

TOWNLEY BOOK CLUB: Our next book is Seventh Heaven – A Novel by Alice Hoffman. (Only 272 pages.) The story takes place in a Long Island, NY housing development during 1959-1960, a place of conforming, happy families where husbands mow the lawns of the tract houses and wives meet for coffee, where “safety hung over the neighborhood like a net”. The arrival of Nora Silk, a brassy divorcee with two young children, is the catalyst for disturbing changes and events, some of them violent. Plucky, impetuous, innocently seductive and a messy housekeeper, Nora is anathema to the subdivision wives, who ostracize her and whose children torment her eight-year-old clairvoyant son, Billy. But as Nora’s presence disturbs the community, it is slowly revealed that behind the identical facades of the houses are secret lives of turmoil, restlessness and longing. Nora, whose optimism about her dead-end life is unquenchable, becomes an instrument of healing. The author has intuitive grasp of the thoughts and feelings that are masked by conventional behavior. We will discuss it on Thursday, June 9, at 2:00 PM in Bailey Hall. Cecelia

RUMMAGE SALE: Our next rummage sale is slated for June 24 & 25, with set-up on June 18. We never had a sale in June, but it will be warm, and the weather should be nice. Below is the schedule for the sale:

- June 18th (Saturday) - Setting up tables for the sale in Bailey Hall (10:00 am - 12:00 noon)
- June 19th (Sunday) - Beginning to organize our donations for a short time after church.
- June 20th - June 23rd (Monday thru Thursday): Set-up of donations in Bailey Hall from 10:30 am to 2:00 pm and 7:30 to 9:00 pm
- June 24th (Friday): SALE DAY (8:30 am - 6:00 pm)
- June 25th (Saturday)-BAG DAY (9:00 am - 12:00 noon) and CLEAN-UP (12:00 noon until 2:30 pm)

As you all know, the rummage sale takes a lot of time, work, and dedication. Thankfully, our Townley family has always been very supportive and have contributed their time and talents so that our rummage sales have been very successful. Please check your calendars and let me know as soon as possible what days you can help so that we know if we will have enough volunteers to hold our rummage sale in June. Thank you!!!! Best, Linda

REGARDING RULING ELDERS: A MONTHLY SERIES FOR SERVING FAITHFULLY

I Do and I Will – Question C by Julie Hester – April 18, 2022

Do you sincerely receive and adopt the essential tenets of the Reformed faith as expressed in the confessions of our church as authentic and reliable expositions of what Scripture leads us to believe and do, and will you be instructed and led by those confessions as you lead the people of God?

I have several favorite parts of the service of ordination and installation. I love seeing the variety of people God calls into leadership. I love to see them pop up from different areas in worship—back row, balcony, choir—and no matter where their faith journeys began or have taken them, they make their way together up front. I love knowing some of the individual stories of faith that have led them to that moment.

I also love prompting folks to answer the questions. We know the answers are “yes,” but there are different ways to say “yes.” Sometimes it’s “I do.” Sometimes it’s “I will.” I’ve learned to add “Do you?” or “Will you?” at the end of each question. For question C, the answer is “I do and I will.” That one is tricky. So is understanding what we mean when we agree to be led by a rather unspecified list of tenets from a collection of written historical confessions of faith.

In a sense, I’ve already described what it means to say “I do and I will.” If you squint and use your imagination, the scene of various church members making their way toward the front of the worship space to be installed as leaders helps us understand.

From way in the back row, farthest away in history, the Apostles' Creed and Nicene Creed stand up. They have been around so long, and their presence in worship is so faithful, that they are familiar to most folks in the church. They are reliable leaders.

From different areas in the sanctuary and history, other creeds and confessions start forward. The Scots and Second Helvetic Confessions have weathered church controversies in the past, and they bring wisdom and a great knowledge of history.

The Westminster Confession and the Catechisms head down the aisle. They taught your parents in Sunday school, and these folks know their Bible. They might not agree with one another or with you on every issue, but they are respected guides.

From near the front the Declaration of Barmen stands up, and so does the Confession of 1967. They are newer members, quick to share their faith in Jesus and active in ministries of reconciliation and mission.

The Brief Statement of Faith is sitting with the youth. Everyone is glad to welcome into leadership an energetic young member who speaks so clearly.

The Belhar Confession is a recent transfer. Some folks don't know them yet, but that will change. They have been a leader in racial justice ministry, and we need their voice at the table.

As these all come forward, the church gets a glimpse of what it means to trust a group to help guide us. They are not all alike. They have varied strengths and weaknesses. They bring diverse history. They connect with different people at different times.

But the congregation knows they are united in essentials. They all trust in Jesus Christ and look to scripture to most clearly see how God's grace is revealed in him. Everything else flows out of that—what they believe about the triune God, the church, and how, in covenant relationship with God, we are invited to participate in the transformation of the world. We've examined their faith and know that God will work through them. With a resounding "yes" the congregation entrusts them to work together to help us all follow Jesus as a community of faith.

Agreeing to be led by the essential tenets of the Reformed faith as expressed in the confessions is a bit like the congregation receiving a slate of officers. We trust the Holy Spirit to work in and through a collection of guides, who are agreed on the basics of faith. Their variety enriches our ministry, even while we listen for new voices and interpretations, always open to our fellowship being reformed. Their beliefs will translate into faithful committee work, important session votes, bold outreach projects, and creative worship services. The church will be blessed by all their voices, as she is by yours, in your own particular expression of the essential tenets of faith. Thanks be to God that your answer is "I do and I will."

Rev. Julie Coffman Hester is a pastor and writer in the Presbytery of Western North Carolina. She is inspired by faithful ruling elders, like her parents, and the remarkable disciples with whom she has served in local congregations.

This article is the fourth in a 12-part series focusing on the constitutional questions that church leaders answer upon their ordination and installation, using some of the materials from "Coming Alive in Christ: Training for PC(USA) Ruling Elders and Deacons Based on the Constitutional Questions," which is available through Equip, the church's online training platform.

God's Helpers

God could not be in every place
With loving hands to help erase
The teardrops from each baby's face,
And so He thought of mother.
He could not send us here alone
And leave us to a fate unknown;
Without providing for His own,
The outstretched arms of mother.
God could not watch us night and day
And kneel beside our crib to pray,
Or kiss our little aches away;
And so He sent us mother.
And when our childhood days began,
He simply could not take command.
That's why He placed our tiny hand
Securely into mother's.
The days of youth slipped quickly by,
Life's sun rose higher in the sky.
Full grown were we, yet ever nigh
To love us still, was mother.
And when life's span of years shall end,
I know that God will gladly send,
To welcome home her child again,
That ever-faithful mother.
